WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING ABOUT US

"So many amazing things I could say about Atty. Bailey and his staff! Mr. Bailey worked tirelessly, to make sure that I received everything that I was owed post accident."

Our society has become more and more self-centered. We seem to be obsessed with building our brand and collecting “likes” on social media. A huge segment of society is hyper focused on their individual goals, which typically concern things that will improve only their lives. And almost all of us are working hard at making a living to provide for our families and ourselves.

There is nothing wrong with building a brand, getting likes on social media, focusing on your goals, and making a living to provide for yourself and your family. All are noble things in my book! However, while doing those things we should still make time to help others in our communities. In fact, nothing will motivate you toward reaching your own personal goals more than by dedicating your precious time, energy, and resources to help others. Further, helping others may just lead to happiness.

There is a Chinese saying that goes; “If you want happiness for an hour, take a nap. If you want happiness for a day, go fishing. If you want happiness for a year, inherit a fortune. If you want happiness for a lifetime, help somebody.” Scientific research provides data to support this.

However, giving is sacrificial and it doesn’t always feel good. You may often feel taken advantage of or drained. That’s why it’s important to be selective to how you use your time, energy, and resources when helping others. Here are some ways you can give in a way that satisfies and motivates you rather than drains you:

- Find Your Passion – Make sure you are passionate about what you are giving your time, energy or resources towards. You will eventually feel drained and will want to quit if you aren’t passionate about what you’re giving towards.
- Give Your Time, Not Just Your Money – You don’t have to be wealthy to be a philanthropist. You can give your time and volunteer with local non-profits that have missions you are passionate about. Many times your time is worth a lot more than your money when it comes to serving others.
- Be Selective – Be selective of how you use your time, energy and resources when giving. Do not say yes to everything. Only say yes to give towards the things you are passionate about. And even then, narrow your yeses to a few organizations that you are passionate about. This will prevent you from being burnt out or stretched too thin.

Taking time to help others may very well be the secret to living a life that is not just happier but also wealthier, more productive and more fulfilling. Take time to help others. You won’t regret it.

Joy

So many amazing things I could say about Atty. Bailey and his staff! Mr. Bailey worked tirelessly, to make sure that I received everything that I was owed post accident. He never quit on me even when the case seemed hopeless. He kept going forward pressing into every resource, and making sure that I was awarded fairly. I don't know any Atty that would've gone the extra mile like he did, and I would recommend him a thousand times over. He's hardworking, diligent, persistent and will not back down from a fight! Thank you again Mr. Bailey for ALL that you've done for me and my family! Words cannot express my gratitude!!
